

Seminar Presented through Public Grants & Training Initiatives

Mastering Today's Street Interviews:
20/20 Vision
September 17, 2021

There has never been a more important time in policing to make words your most powerful weapon© than now!

That being said, this one day seminar does not, in any way, discourage officers from using physical force or even deadly force when warranted. Rather, this seminar specifically addresses every police officers' ability to be able to detect, interpret and act on a person's verbal and physical behavior during street encounters. A desperately needed skill that has proven to be a major factor in many use of physical force and deadly force encounters with suspects today.

We know that we can never predict, with certainty, how your next encounter is going to go. We can never guarantee anyone from not contemplating flight or fight even if we do everything legally and ethically right. But what we can all agree on in today's world of policing, is that we are all human. Police officers are not perfect. We can all use another effective weapon to protect us physically and legally. This one just doesn't go on your gun belt.

Additional Topics:

- Utilizing and adjusting your own verbal and physical behavior
 - Deflecting and redirecting negativity
 - Spotting common ground
 - Prioritizing objectives and goals
 - Maximizing the power of your body camera

Seminar presented and developed by Dom Cappelluti, known for his interviewing and investigative classes that are part of his Street Strategies Series!

Hamilton County Sheriff Office

September 17, 2021

$175.00 with group discounts available*

Groups of three or more call for discounted rate: 847-875-3620*

www.pg-ti.com
kodonnell@pg-ti.com